
"lietuviska" paskola ir "anglisku" mokes

PaskelbÅ— sheeza - 2006.12.07 14:45

turiu pasiemes busto paskola is "lietuvisko" banko ir kas menesi jam moku tam tikra suma. dabar gyvenu, dirbu, pajamas gaunu ir deklaruuju d.britanijoje. klausimas toks: ar vietiniai mokesciai (hmrc, t.y. buvusi inland revenue) leidzia mazinti apmokestinamas pajamas suma, kuria sumoku "lietuviskam" bankui?
ieskojau info internete, deja. jei kas esat panasioje situacijoje ar turit informacijos siuo klausimu, pls pasidalinkit patirtim.

=====

"lietuviska" paskola ir "anglisku" mokes

PaskelbÅ— ATA - 2006.12.08 14:06

Daug galima padaryt, bet tau tiksliai tik buhalteris atsakys. mazdaug sitaip ; negalima ir tatai nebutu legalu daryti oficialiai :roll:

=====

"lietuviska" paskola ir "anglisku" mokes

PaskelbÅ— kissgirl - 2006.12.12 08:03

istatimiskasi negalima, juk dauguma uk moka mortgage, ir ne i galva niekam nesautu daryti tai ka tu parasei.

=====

Re: "lietuviska" paskola ir "anglisku" mokes

PaskelbÅ— Darius_S - 2006.12.13 01:37

sheeza

Deja shiek tikek pavelavai .Buvo toks Mortgage Interest Relief, Lengvtai buvo galima panaudoti palukanas sumoketas uz paskolas skirtas turtui esanciam UK arba Airijos respublikoje isigyti.

Mortgage Interest Relief at Source, or MIRAS, was a scheme introduced by the government of the United Kingdom in 1983 in an effort to facilitate a greater level of borrowing for house purchases; it allowed borrowers tax relief for interest payments on their mortgage.

This was available for the first Â£30,000 of a qualifying mortgage and up until 1988, those with joint mortgages were able to combine their allowances to Â£60,000. MIRAS was completely abolished in April 2000.

=====